

October 20, 1938.

Mr. Harry H. Moore,
State Treasurer,
Phoenix, Arizona.

LAW LIBRARY ARIZONA ATTORNEY GENERAL

Dear Mr. Moore:

We have your letter of October 18th in reference to the unclaimed dividend deposited in your office by the Superintendent of Banks from the estate of the Bank of Winslow, in which you state that Mr. Grant Holcomb is administering the estate of Josephine Gardner, and that he claims Mrs. Gardner had on deposit in said bank, the sum of $1,215.80 at the time the bank closed, and that the records of your office do not show that Mrs. Gardner filed a claim with the Banking Department; that the Banking Department advises that they are of the opinion that the estate of Mrs. Gardner is entitled to receive 53% of $1,215.80.

In this connection you are advised that an administrator of the estate of Mrs. Gardner should be appointed in the State of Arizona, and upon the qualification of the administrator, if proof satisfactory to you is made that Mrs. Gardner had a sum of money on deposit in the Bank of Winslow at the time the bank closed, that you should pay to the estate of Mrs. Gardner the amount of dividends which the estate of the Bank of Winslow paid to other creditors.

The proven ownership of the claim could be made in the probate court probating the estate, or by satisfactory affidavits furnished you by the administrator.

Very truly yours,

JOE CONNAY,
Attorney General

EARL ANDERSON,
Special Assistant
Attorney General.
